

5th April 2017

Paul Langford BSc PhD FRSB
Professor of Paediatric Infectious Diseases

College of Veterinary Medicine
Jilin University
Changchun
P. R. China

Dear Professor Lei

Re: Invitation to speak at IPC2017

On behalf of the Organising Committee I would like to thank you for accepting the invitation to deliver a Keynote address to the International Pasteurellaceae Conference 2017 (IPC 2017) being held between the 19th-22nd of September 2017 to be held in The Imperial Museum in the beautiful historic City of in Petropolis (near Rio de Janeiro) in Brazil. This is the 13th in a series of conferences which first started in 1980 and is the first to be held in South America. The conference is dedicated to all aspects of the Pasteurellaceae and the audience will include senior and student representatives from academia, research institutions and industry.

The agreed title of your talk is:

"A review of host responses to infection by Pasteurellaceae"

Additionally, you have agreed to act as a Chair for a scientific session and/or judge for prizes for early career researchers.

Your airfare (economy), transport to and from Rio de Janeiro Airport, accommodation, registration fee and conference dinner will be paid for or reimbursed, on provision of the original receipts, by the Organising Committee.

Thank you for agreeing to participate in IPC 2017.

Yours faithfully

Professor Paul Langford

On behalf of the IPC2017 Organising Committee
<http://ipc2017.net/>